

President's Message

"Say YES to CTE: Educating the Next Generation," the theme for our fall institute this year provided all CTE teachers with more knowledge and tools to spread the word about CTE. We are teaching during an exciting time when CTE is expanding and growing across the country. Becky Cox, the National ACTE President, opened our fall institute in Billings. She is passionate about CTE, her enthusiasm is contagious and it was great to have her in Montana. Andrew McPeak, our Keynote Speaker, inspired us with creative ways to connect with Generation Z. He talked about how we all need to speak our student's language and make connections with them. Experiential learning is growing, students will support what they complete, what they construct, and we must create the opportunities for them to do this. All the Division Presidents put in extra time to make the fall institute one of the best. Thank you for your excellent leadership and hard work. <Read More>

MAFCSE News

Hi ya'll from San Antonio, Texas. Welcome to Vision 2018, what an incredible experience to attend the national conference for ACTE. Networking with individuals involved in career and technical education, getting new teaching ideas and enjoying some warmer weather were the high points of this week. Several Family and Consumer Sciences teachers attended the conference and will have some great ideas to share this year with teachers in our state. Jump aboard a scooter and we will take a tour of the ACTE Vision Conference.

The opening session our first speaker was Swiss Ambassador, Dr. Dehinden. He discussed apprenticeship programs and the Swiss education system. Switzerland is working with organizations, such as ACTE to make apprenticeship programs a viable choice for U.S. students. Switzerland offers 200 apprenticeship programs to young people, it has the lowest unemployment rate for young adults in the world and a highly trained, highly skilled work force.

MBEA News

Hope you all had a relaxing and restful holiday break! I'm sure you all are busy wrapping up the end of first semester and beginning a new semester shortly. The MACTE/MBEA conference and NGPF FinCamp this past October was a great start to the school year. If you have never attended before, I would highly recommend planning to attend next year's conference in Great Falls, MT. This year's MBEA conference provided attendees with a networking social at Last Chance Cider Mill, Youth Entrepreneurship and Next Gen Personal Finance. We are excited to announce the following MBEA award winners: MBEA Teacher of the Year, Nicole Bogunovich and MBEA New Business Teacher, Jordan Hasquet.

Hopet to see you all at this year's WBEA conference in Tucson, AZ. This year's conference has some great sessions and a variety of networking opportunities available to "lasso your legacy". This is an excellent way to connect with business teachers from across the western part of the United States.

It has been an honor to serve as president for MBEA these past two years. Calie Wineinger will be your upcoming MBEA president and I know she will do an amazing job on improving this important organization. Have a great rest of 2018 and an excellent beginning to second semester. In the meantime, feel free to email me with any questions, bogunovichn@billingschools.org.
