

Montana ACTE

Fall Institute—2017

“Cheers to 100 Years”

The Smith-Hughes National Vocational Education Act of 1917 was an act of the United States Congress that promoted vocational agriculture to train people "who have entered upon or who are preparing to enter upon the work of the farm," and provided federal funds for this purpose. Join us in celebrating 100 years of Career and Technical Education.

Keynote Speaker—Bob Green

Bob Green retired as the Head Football Coach at Montana Tech following the 2010 season after leading the Orediggers for 24 seasons and spending almost 40 years in the coaching profession. During his tenure, Tech had its most successful period ever in football. Green compiled a record of 140 wins, 116 losses, and 1 tie. In the 78 years of football prior Green's arrival, Montana Tech had only won a total of 152 games, coupled with 272 losses. During Coach Green's time at the Butte College, the Orediggers placed first, tied for first, or second in the Frontier Conference 16 times. Green led the Diggers to the NAIA National Playoffs 5 times including the 1996 National Championship Game. The Orediggers were the first ever Frontier Conference football team to play for the national title. Green also produced 15 first team All-American players during his tenure; two of these selections were two-time All-Americans. Over 95 percent of Coach Green's senior players obtained their degree while completing their eligibility. Green was a key figure in attracting the Bob Cleverley Class C High School All-Star Football Game to the Mining City. The game has been played in Butte for 25 years. Currently, Bob Green serves as a Development Officer for the Montana Tech Foundation. His duties include outreach with corporations and individuals throughout the country in advancing Montana Tech. Green also gives corporate/team building talks to a wide range of industries.
